

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Void contracts.

8. Said board shall not enter into any contract for work in the erection and completion of such city hall, without first causing fifteen days' notice to be given in one or more newspapers of general circulation in such city, that sealed proposals will be received for doing the work or furnishing the materials; provided, that said board may procure plans thereafter in the manner above indicated, and shall not be required to advertise for bids for making or printing the drawings, specifications and form of bids, contracts and bonds, nor for removing or disposing of any old building that it may be necessary to remove or dispose of.

And in all cases of competitive bidding, whether in the erection and completion, or furnishing of such city hall, no bid shall be received or considered by the board, which covers a patented material, process or device, until the person who owns or controls or has a contract for the exclusive use of such patented material, process or device, has entered into an agreement with the board, for the benefit of all bidders, as to the lowest price for which he himself will furnish, or which he will furnish to all bidders, such patented material, process or device.

Each bid shall be accompanied with a bond, signed by sufficient sureties, for the acceptance of the contract, if awarded by the board; or the bidder may deposit with the board in lieu of such bond, a certified check, or cash, in such sum as the board shall indicate; and in case of refusal by the bidder to enter into a contract according to his bid, within such reasonable time as the board may determine, said bond shall be put in suit, and the amount collected paid into the fund hereinafter provided; or if [a] check or cash is deposited, the amount shall be immediately paid into such fund.

To provide a fund to pay the cost and expense of the erection, completion and furnishing of any city hall, under the provisions of this act, the board of public affairs of any such city shall, forthwith, upon receiving orders from said board of trustees, certified by its chairman and clerk, and from time to time and as often as said board of trustees think necessary, issue the bonds of such city, to an amount not to exceed in the aggregate seven hundred thousand dollars ($700,000), for the erection and completion of such city hall. Said board of public affairs shall receive bids for said bonds from time to time, as they may receive orders from said board of trustees to issue the same, after advertising the same for sale once per week for four consecutive weeks, on the same day of the week, in some newspaper of general circulation in such city, and shall sell the same for not less than their par value, with accrued interest, to the highest bidder. The money arising from the sale of said bonds shall be placed in the city treasury, in a fund to be called the "city hall fund," and all warrants drawn upon the comptroller for payment out of said fund, shall designate on their face "for erection and completion," or "for furnishing," according as they are drawn for the one purpose or the other, and a careful account of the condition of said fund shall be separately kept by the comptroller of said city. And if upon the completion of any work under the provisions of this act, an unexpended balance of the fund shall remain in the city treasury, such balance shall be immediately turned over to the trustees of the sinking fund of such city, and applied by them to the sinking fund for the final redemption of the bonds issued under the provisions of this act.

SECTION 8. In this act the following terms shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them:

Meaning of terms:

"Public Building" means every building used as a church, or other place of public worship; also every building used as a college, school, public hall, hospital, theatre, public concert room, public ball room, public lecture room, or for any public assemblage.

"Public building."

"Lodging House" means a building in which persons are temporarily accommodated with sleeping apartments, and includes hotels.

"Lodging house."

"Tenement House" means a building which, or any portion of which, is to be occupied, or is occupied, as a dwelling by more than three families, living independently of one another and doing their cooking upon the premises; or by more than two families above the second floor, so living and cooking.

"Tenement house."

"Party Wall" means every wall used as a separation of two or more buildings, and used or to be used jointly by said separated buildings.

"Party wall."

SECTION 9. The city may, from time to time, by ordinance, as hereinafter provided, extend and establish fire limits in said city, and within those limits every building, built after such establishment, shall be of brick, stone, iron, or other substantial and incombustible material, and only the following wooden buildings shall be allowed, viz.: Sheds not exceeding twenty-seven feet in height, on wharves, to be used for any lawful purpose; sheds of same height in all parts of said limits to be used for market purposes, or to facilitate the building of authorized buildings; elevators of any height for the storage of coal and grain; all external parts of which sheds and elevators shall be covered with incombustible material, and the material used, the mode of construction, and the location shall be approved by the inspector.

Wooden
buildings
without fire limits.

SECTION 10. The city council of said city may, by ordinance, make such requirements, in addition to those contained in this act, as they may deem expedient, in relation to the erection and alteration of wooden buildings outside the fire limits.

Excavations.

SECTION 11. Any excavation upon a lot adjoining a street shall be properly guarded and protected by the contractor having the contract for such excavation, so as not to become dangerous to public travel. Whenever any excavation shall be commenced upon a lot of land, and there shall be a party or other wall standing upon or near the boundary line of said lot, if the person whose duty it shall be to preserve and protect said wall from injury shall neglect or fail to do so for three days after notice in writing from the inspector of buildings, left at the usual residence or place of business of such person, said inspector may enter upon the premises and employ such labor, obtain such materials, and take such other steps as may be necessary to make the same safe and to prevent the same from becoming unsafe, at the expense of the person or persons whose duty it is to protect said wall or building; and such inspector may recover of such person all money so expended as if he had been employed by such person to expend the same. The owner, owners or agent, of such adjoining party wall, or other wall, shall have the reasonable use of such lot so to be excavated in shoring up and making safe such adjoining party or other wall, if said wall is not of legal depth.

Erection or alteration of exterior wall near traveled

SECTION 12. Whenever any person shall be about to erect or alter the exterior walls of a building within five feet of the line of a traveled street, said person shall cause the portion of said site of said building bordering upon said street to be enclosed by a proper fence, not less than four feet high and at least seven feet from the line of such building, and, if such fence shall prevent passage on the sidewalk, shall lay and maintain a plank walk around the same not less than thirty inches wide; and said fence shall be made as much higher and the walk as much wider as the inspector of buildings shall direct, and the same shall be maintained until all liability to accident from falling materials shall be terminated.

Foundation

SECTION 13. The footing or base course under all foundation walls shall be of stone, and shall not be less than twice the width of the bottom course of the foundation walls; the thickness of each course of footings shall not be less than six inches, and shall not project more than six inches. If a wall be built upon isolated piers, there must not be less than two footing courses of large, well-shaped stone, at least eight inches in thickness, for each course, and to project not more than the thickness of the stone. All foundation walls shall be at least four inches thicker than the wall next above them to the depth below the curb level, as lawfully fixed as the standard depth of foundations for buildings of its class, and shall be increased four inches in thickness for every additional five feet in depth below said standard depth. Foundation walls in dwelling houses shall be below the basement floor beams not less than four inches thicker than the walls next above them. The depth of fourteen feet below said curb level of the street is hereby fixed as the standard depth of foundations for brick and stone buildings used for business or manufacturing purposes, or public buildings, and the depth of nine feet below said curb level of the street is hereby fixed as the standard depth of foundations for dwelling houses. Any person excavating for or commencing foundations at a greater depth than the above standard, shall be responsible for all damages to adjoining buildings, the foundations of which have been constructed at the standard depth. No person constructing foundation walls down to the standard depth shall be responsible for damages to contiguous buildings, the walls of which have not been constructed to the standard depth. Where a building requiring the fourteen feet standard depth is erected adjoining a dwelling with walls of nine feet standard depth, the owner of the former is to shore up, underpin, or otherwise protect the walls of said adjoining dwelling.

SECTION 14. All buildings hereafter erected within the fire limits of said city of the first class, shall be made and constructed of brick or stone, and every building of brick or stone, or both, that shall be newly roofed or covered, shall be constructed of line walls or party walls of brick or stone; or of both, and such line walls or party walls shall extend from the foundation to the top of and at least two feet through the roof of the building, and said roof shall be covered with such material as will afford protection against fire, and said walls shall be so constructed as to separate all woodwork, thoroughly and completely, of the interior and exterior of such building from all and every part of the interior and exterior of any adjoining building. And all division and party walls separating dwellings and stores, built in blocks or rows, shall also extend from the foundation and through the roof, the same as line walls. (The term building as used in this section shall not include privies.) The coverings of all roofs of new buildings as well as buildings now standing requiring re-roofing within the fire limits shall be made and constructed of metal, slate, or asphaltum, or some fire-proof composition.

SECTION 15. The floors of all buildings shall be constructed to bear with safety upon each superficial foot of floor surface, as follows: Public buildings, lodging houses, tenement houses and dwellings, seventy pounds. Roofs, fifty pounds. These weights are to be exclusive of the weight of the floors and roof. The requisite dimensions of each piece of material is to be determined by computation, by the rules given by Hatfield, Barlow or Trautwine, or the treatises of other authors now or hereafter to be used at the United States Academy at West Point, on the strength of materials, using for constants in the rules only such numbers as have been deduced from experiments on materials of like kinds with that proposed to be

All gas, water, steam or other pipes, which may be introduced into any building, shall not be let into the beams at a greater distance than twenty-four inches from the ends of the beams, and then not to exceed one and one-half inches in depth for all beams of ten to twelve inches in depth, nor more than two inches for beams of a greater depth. For beams less than ten inches, the sinking must not exceed one inch in depth. In such portions of public buildings, lodging houses, tenement houses and dwellings as may be used as stores or for storage, or manufacturing purposes, and in all other buildings, a certificate of equally distributed load per square foot each floor can safely sustain, shall be posted in a conspicuous place above or adjacent to such floor. No person shall load any floor to a greater degree than above named, or shall remove any certificate posted as above stated.

- Walls having solid buttresses. SECTION 18. If solid buttresses are employed, with an average sectional area of 300 or more square inches, placed less than eighteen feet apart, and extended to, or nearly to the top of walls, four inches may be deducted from the thickness of any wall having such buttresses. This section applies to rooms not exceeding sixty feet in width. For greater widths, special provision shall be made.
- Backing of exterior walls faced with stone. SECTION 19. Exterior walls faced with stone shall have a backing of not less than eight inches of hard brick work laid in mortar; but in no case shall the thickness of stone and backing taken together, be less than the thickness required for a brick wall of the same height.

Any wall now existing that shall have been built conformable to the requirements of any law regulating the construction of such walls, and in force at the time of such construction, if sound and in good condition, may be used in the construction of any adjoining building; provided, however, that no brick work shall be placed on such wall to give additional height to the wall, unless the thickness of such additional wall and the thickness of the old wall in each story shall conform to the preceding table.
- Area walls adjoining street, not over twelve feet high. SECTION 21. The area walls adjoining the street line and not more than twelve feet in height, shall be constructed of stone laid in cement mortar and batter on the interior face, one inch in every perpendicular foot of height, and to be not less than eighteen (18) inches at the top. by a continuous row of headers. All heading courses shall be good, perfect, hard brick.

SECTION 22. All walls shall be securely anchored with iron anchors to each tier of beams. The front, rear, side, end and party-walls shall, if not carried up together, be anchored to each other every six feet in their height by tie anchors made of one and three-quarter inch by three-eighths of an inch wrought iron. The said anchors shall be built into the full thickness of the front and rear walls, and shall have "T" heads one inch in section and not less than twelve inches long, so as to secure the front and rear walls to the side, end, or party walls; and all stone used for the facing of any building, except where built with alternate headers and stretchers as hereinbefore set forth, shall be strongly anchored with iron anchors, and all such anchors shall be let into the stone not less than one inch. All wall anchors used in any building shall have hooked ends turned up not less than four inches, with scantling blocks built into the wall. Where anchors run parallel with joists or beams, the same shall not be less than two (2) feet long, in other cases not less than five (5) feet long.

*Two copies of the act marked "Senate Bill No. 282" were filed by the general assembly in the office of the secretary of state; one, printed on pages 95-99, on March 16, and the other, which is here printed, on March 21. The explanation of this fact is found in the following certificate made by the clerk of the senate in which the bill originated:

COLUMBUS, March 30, 1887.

This is to certify, That Senate Bill No. 282 passed the senate on the ninth day of February, 1887. The senate was informed, by message, on the ninth day of March, that the house of representatives had concurred in the passage of the bill. After the bill had been enrolled, signed and deposited in the office of the secretary of state, on the sixteenth day of March, it was discovered that the bill had been erroneously engrossed in the senate. The bill was then properly engrossed and returned to the house of representatives. The senate was notified, by message, on the seventeenth day of March, that the house had concurred a second time in the passage of the bill, said error in the engrossment thereof having been corrected.

The bill was then properly enrolled, and again signed and deposited, on the twenty-first day of March, in the office of the secretary of state.

Said bill, as enrolled, signed and deposited on the sixteenth day of March, was not re-called, from the secretary of state's office.

And it shall be the duty of such trustees, in securing the most suitable plan for such city hall, to advertise for not less than four consecutive weeks, in such newspapers as they shall deem proper, both in and outside of such city, for plans of such city hall, and shall allow full and fair competition among all architects who shall desire to submit plans for such city hall; and in order to secure competition in the submission of plans, they may offer as a reward for each of the five best plans submitted, a sum not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500), and may, in their discretion, pay to the party submitting the plan which is by them accepted, a sum not to exceed fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500), or employ such person as architect in the erection of such building.

6. All contracts shall be made in writing, in the name of such city, and signed by the chairman and clerk of said board, and by the contractor. When it becomes necessary, in the opinion of said board, in the prosecution of the work, to make alterations or modifications in the contract, such alterations or modifications shall only be made by order of the board, and such order shall be of no effect until the price to be paid for the work or materials under such altered or modified contract has been agreed upon in writing, and signed by the contractor and all the members of said board; and no contractor shall be allowed or recover anything for work or materials caused by any alteration or modification, unless an order is made or agreement signed, as aforesaid; nor shall he in any case be allowed to recover more for such work or materials than said agreed price; and if when the board has

And in all cases of competitive bidding, whether in the erection and completion, or furnishing of such city hall, no bid shall be received or considered by the board, which covers a patented material, process or device, until the person who owns or controls or has a contract for the exclusive use of such patented material, process or device, has entered into an agreement with the board, for the benefit of all bidders, as to the lowest price for which he himself will furnish, or which he will furnish to all bidders, such patented material, process or device.

WHEREAS, On January 7, 1886, Hon. W. T. Price, of Wisconsin, introduced in the house, House Bill No. 2776, which was referred to the house committee on the judiciary; and on May 24, 1886, the Honorable Wade Hampton, of South Carolina, introduced in the senate an amendment to Senate Bill No. 2457, which was referred to the senate committee on finance: "A bill to adjust certain accounts between the United States and territories and the District of Columbia."

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That it shall be the duty of the secretary of the treasury to credit to each State and territory of the United States and the District of Columbia, a sum equal to all collections made from said States and territories and the District of Columbia under the act of Congress, approved August fifth, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, and the amendatory acts thereto, with such additional credits as under said act they are entitled to have in consequence of having paid any portion thereof without expense of collection to the United States, and such sums also as have been collected from lands or owners thereof under supplemental acts on any account whatever.

SEC. 2. That all moneys still due to the United States on the quota of direct tax apportioned by section eight of the act of Congress, approved August fifth, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, are hereby remitted and relinquished.

SEC. 3. That there is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury, not otherwise appropriated, such sums as may be necessary to re-imburse each State, territory and the District of Columbia for all money found due to them under the provisions of this act; and the treasurer of the United States is hereby directed to pay the same; provided, that when the same or any part thereof credited to any State, territory or the District of Columbia have been collected from any citizen thereof, either directly or by sale, resale or lease of property, such sum shall be held in trust by such State, territory or the District of Columbia for the benefit of those of its citizens from whom it was collected, or their legal representatives.

WHEREAS, The foregoing bill provides that the secretary of the treasury shall credit each State with the amount of money assessed against it for direct taxes under the act of August 5, 1861.

WHEREAS, The effect of the passage by Congress of said bill will be to refund to those States which have paid the amounts of such assessments to the extent of the sums by them so paid, and to release those States which have not paid, from hereafter paying all said taxes, and also from all future liability to pay the same; whilst the right of the general government to raise revenue by direct taxation is unquestioned, it is patent, this direct tax was in the nature of an enforced loan, and it was made in this form only because it was required to meet the great exigency then upon the country ; and

WHEREAS, Several of the States now owe the general government from a quarter to a half-million dollars each, on account of this direct tax, while others have paid their full quota ; therefore,

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That our senators and representatives in Congress be requested to urge the passage of the bill hereinbefore referred to, and use their best endeavors to secure to the State the amount paid to the United States by this forced tax.

*Senate bill No. 327 passed both houses of the general assembly, as set forth in the certificates below; but the same, for some reason unknown, was not enrolled, signed and filed in the office of the secretary of state. This fact was not discovered until after the general laws had been printed, when the clerk of the senate filed the copy of the act here printed, in the office of the secretary of state. The following certificates have been made by the clerks of the senate and house:

COLUMBUS, April 20, 1887.

This is to certify, that Senate Bill No. 327, by Mr. Glazier, was introduced in the Senate, January 24, 1887; read the second time January 25, and referred to the Committee on Geological Survey; reported favorably on the 27th day of January by said committee, and engrossed, read the third time, amended and passed, February 15, by a vote of yeas 26, nays 0.

The Senate was notified, on the 11th day of March, that the House of Representatives had concurred in the passage of the bill, amended as follows: In line 19 strike out "four" and insert "one." After the word "copies" in line 19, insert: "not more than one copy of which shall be sold to any one person."

The Senate, on that day, concurred in said amendments by a vote of yeas 24, nays 0.

All of which appears upon the journals of the dates above given.

I further certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of said bill as the same was passed by the General Assembly.
